

ANGELA'S MAKEOVER PART ONE!

ANGELA SAYS

I was always very nervous about having Botox or any kind of treatment to my face or even body for that matter until I met France's furlong of perfect skin. I've never been a girlie girl and lots of my friends were always put off by anything that involved needles, chemicals or intensive regular treatments. I never thought I had a problem, but there were a couple of things that I would have liked to improve, but then I guess I'm like most people naturally. I was always big on laughter and always liked to smile for the camera on nights out, but the more I looked through my photo collection the more I realised there was just one tiny little thing that needed adjusting, my gummy smile!

When I smiled my dad would say to me "the last time I saw a set of teeth like that it won the derby!" Meaning he could overly see my gums when I smiled. When meeting Frances she firstly made me complete a comprehensive medical history form. She then explained to me how Botox could help with this problem. To her horror I said no, however France's explained how it worked, how we would take the treatment slowly over a few weeks, and how it would feel and the results that could be achieved. I immediately felt Reassured. You hear stories of women having frozen faces and looking terrible after treatments, but France's carefully explained the mechanics of the treatment. I was amazed the treatment didn't hurt and the results are fabulous and I would highly recommend anyone to France's. Talk to perfect skin and you will get an honest and frank opinion and see how you feel.

I am feeling much better about my smile as you can see from my photos it has really helped my problem. I am so happy I have now trusted France's to help me with my skin and advise on the right products to use. Watch this space as I will be reporting on this too, perfect skin, well the results are just perfect.

FRANCE'S SAYS

When I first met Angela, I thought what a bubbly and fun character, little did I know how her gummy smile made her feel, when she explained the problem and after a careful assessment I knew that muscle relaxing Injections would benefit Angela. I think the public's perception on these types of treatments are not always good. Celebrities who have gone too far normally put clients off. I take a natural approach and help clients achieve the perfect facial balance for them, looking the best you can for you is the right approach to facial aesthetics. The mouth, chin, lip and jawline are all areas that clients can feel unhappy with and re-defining the lip outline only can make the lips look more youthful without looking trout like!! Smoothing out the chin and sides of the mouth can give a more lifted profile and better shape to a face. Using filler along the jawline can help lift jowls, also muscle relaxing injections can help. Lip lifting, lift the corners of the mouth can help tighten the jaw line and neck. Knowing why something is happening to the area on the face is the key to choosing the right treatment. I am now helping Angela through her perfect skin journey too so look out for the next issue to find out more...
